UTHOR OF THE GREAT BOOK JUST BE-ING PUBLISHED, SPEAKS OF HAMPTON'S GREAT CURE OF RESUMATISM CONTRACTED

UNDER TROPICAL CLIMATES. BALTIMORE, Md., June 4, 1854.

Mr. Stockbridge, of the Pountain Hotel, Light street,

Dear Sir : Being on the point of leaving the city, avail myself of a few idle moments to thank you kindly for the medicine you sent me, and which has restored me to the use of my limbs. I beg you to send me four bottles more, to carry on my voyage. Since I had the fortune to use Dr. Hampton's Vege table Tincture my confidence is so strong that, in gratitude to the proprietors of said medicine, I beg you to present my respects to them, and induce hem to make it more publicly known as a sure Rheumatic cure. Having called on me on the 19th of April last, and seen me prostrated on my bed, useless in all my limbs, you can appreciate nearly as well as myself the prompt relief I received from Dr. Hampton's Tincture, and I am positive had it not been for your strong and forcible recommendstions I should still have been in bed. It is really a pity this specific should not be approved by medical men, and like all patent drugs i should suffer the imputation the public generally give to such preparations. I myself, who was always opposed to a patented specific, took this medicine with reluctance, and without confidence in it, and it was only through your disinterested, friendly recommendations, and my critical situation that inluced me to try this really beneficial Vegetable You may inform Messrs. Mortimer & Mowbray that they are at liberty te make use of my name in the support of the good effects of Dr. Hampton's Vegetable Tincture, as it has cured me in five weeks of a chronic Inflammatory Rheumatism, contracted under tropical climates, and of seven years' periodical duration. I have only used three bottles, and find that even the deformed parts of my hands are fast returning o their former natural appearance.

I have been under the treatment of several physicions in London and Paris, without any apparent benefit; also, while in New York, having tried the Thompsonian and Homospathic remedies, after having been tormented with galvanic batteries, cold and aromatic baths, and hundreds of internal and external medicines, all to no effect, I am, so far, cured by this Hampton's Vege able Tincture only. Therefore, my dear sir, accept of the assurance of my gratitude, and believe me your well wisher.

REV. VERNON ESKRIDGE, U. S. N. PORTSMOUTH, VA. Aug. 18, 1851. Mr. J. E. Boush—Bear sir: While I am, in general, opposed to patent medicines, candor compels me to state that I have great confidence in the virtues of Hampton's Vegetable Tincture. For several months past I have used it in my femily; and in yspepsia, loss of appetite, dizziness, and general debility, with entire success. So far as my experience extends, therefore, I take pleasure in recommendto the afflicted as a safe and efficient remedy. I am, respectfully, yours,

VERNON ESKRIDGE, Chaplain, United States Navy.

Washington, May 17, 1863. Mesers. Mortimer & Mowbray : Gentlemen-Hay ing been afflicted with Liver Complaint of ten years standing, I hereby, for the benefit of the afflicted take great pleasure in announcing that after using a few bottles of your Tineture, I found it had ac complished a perfect cure. I have used different medicines from time to time, but have never been able to account for any apparent good, and it is a blessing to stricken humanity that that medicine is found which possesses the wonderous power of pro-longing human life. The many cures it has wrought is a sufficient guarantee of the beneficial results which may be experienced from its use. PHILADELPHIA, March, 1, 1858. Dr. C. M. Jackson: Dear Sir—For the past two years I have been severely afflicted with Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Bilious Diarrhosa, and Piles, suffering in a great degree constantly, the pains and in-conveniences attendant upon such diseases, without energy, being scarcely able to attend to any business. I lost a great deal of my flesh, and used many kinds of medicine, with no apparent change, until commenced with your "Hoofland's German Bitters." they have entirely cured me. I have gained in weigh over forty pounds since I commenced their use, and I am now entirely free from pain and ache of any kind, and feel like a new man. I unhesitatingly recommend your Bitters to all invalids. Yours, respectfully, JOHN R. CORY,

HOW RUSSIA FIRST GOT THE CRIMEA Chambers's Repository contains an account, which will be interesting at the present time, of the means by which Russia became possessed of the portion of territory which the English and French forces are now trying to wrest from her. It forms part of a biograph. cal sketch of the famous Suvaroff, or Anglice Suwarrow, Who loved blood as an Alderman loves marrow.

Catharine had huddled up a peace with the Sultan in 1774, partly on account of the Pugatchey danger, and partly because of the me-nacing tone of the British Cabinet; but no sooner was England involved in war with the United States of America, and France preparing to strike in with the revolted colonists, than the Empress, true to the traditional polcy of St. Petersburgh, forthwith commenced. whilst yet the ink was wet with which she had subscribed a covenant of "perpetual peace" with Turkey, active provocations for a renewal of the war by offensive demonstrations in the Crimea, on the Kuban northward of the Caucasian Cordillera, and on the sheres of the Black Sea. In 1776, Suvorov, fully possessed of the designs of the Czarina, left St Petersburgh for Cherson, the most southern point of the Russian frontier towards Turkey: and without even a decent pretence for hostilities, at once attacked Dulut Ghiray, khan of the Crimea; drove him off to seek such redress as Constantinople might afford; and set Schaim Ghiray, a kinsman of the deposed khan, and the supple tool of Russia in his stead. General Suvorov next proceeded to erect forts on the Kuban, and provoke hostilities with "the banditti of Circassia;" but with such ill-fortune that he abandoned the task to Major General Kayser, and busied himself with "the delicate mission"—a much easier one, at all events, than a guerilla warfare with the Tcherkessi-of removing some 20,000 Armenian families from the Crimea to the district of Catherinoslof in Russia, where they would be more manageable than in their own country. Nearly a third of these unfortunates perished by the way of fatigue and privation, and hundreds threw themselves in despair under the hoofs of the Cossacks' horses, as the riders, in obedience to Suvorov's orders, pricked them on with their spears, as if goading cattle to market or to pasture ble devourer replied : LABARRE would respectfully inform the pub-lic that he has opened a Shop at the corner C these proceedings of the Russian general and "Ay, do I mind ye o' Nebuchadnezzar? these proceedings of the Russian general, and That'll be because I'm eating among the even went so far as to parade a numerous brutes." fleet in the Black Sea; but the deplorable war with America and her European allies, precluding the ministry of Lord North from affording the Sultan more than "moral" help, the Capudan Pacha returned with his fleet to Constantinople, after receiving a contemptuous note from Suvorov, in reply to his demand for an "explanation" of the Russian doings in the Crimea, and the appearance of "Russian corsairs" in the Black Sea, to the effect that the legitimate Khan of the Tartars, the aid of his august ally, the Empress of ali the Russias, which had enabled him to dispense with the assistance of the Sultan; and that, with regard to the scandalous epithet of corsairs," applied by Capudan Pacha to her Imperial Majesty's ships, that was a grave offence, which must be answered for hereafter. The Sultan was at length induced to acknowledge Schaim Ghiray as the rightful Khan; and that point gained, comparative tranquil-APINYALLER REMEDY for Serofula, King's Evil, Rhon- lity prevailed till 1782, when the Tartar tragicomic force was played out Large bodies of Russian troops having been quietly drawn together, and judiciously posted, the Prince Potemkin issued a proclamation, setting forth that Schaim Ghiray had solemnly abdicated see of Mercury, Imprudance in Life, or Impurity of his Khanship, entirely of his own free will, in favor of the Empress of Russia, to whom, therefore, all Nogay Tartars were bound and required immediately to swear allegiance. To facilitate the due performance of this solemnity-at which Suvorov and his soldiers were of course to assist—a grand feast was provided in the open air for the Nogay chiefs and their dependants; where after they had devoured 100 oxen and 800 sheep, with 32,000 pints of sago brandy, the oath was administered to them collectively; and Suvorov immediately dispatched a special courier to inform Prince Potemkin of the completion "of that act of faith and homage," by the intexicated Tar-Doubts, however, were not long in suggest ing themselves to the mind of General Suvo rev as to the degree of binding force which an oath, however solemn in itself, or impressively administered, could be expected to have upor the conscience of men who, "he was grieved to discover, were entirely destitute of reli-Potemkin, that all the tribes of Nogay Tartars should be gradually removed to the wilds the injuries he sustained. of Ural, and that the meantime they should be, as opportunity offered, as quietly as possible, and under plausible pretexts, disarmed This scheme went on prosperously for some time; but at last a large body of Nogays, on their way to the Ural steppes, suddenly re fused to move further in this direction, over powered and broke away from the escort, and fled for shelter to the southwest bank of the Kuban, in the plains of Caucasia. Suvorov pursued them thither, with the determination of taking signal vengeance upon the "oathbreaking infidels"-a promise which he thoroughly redeemed. By daybreak on the morning of September 11, 1782, a large encampment of Aogays was discovered-whether the precise delinquents he was in quest of the general did not stop to inquire—and presently the Russian squadrons burst upon the surprised and defenceless tribe, and "the massaere," we read, "continued till noon"-till, in fact, there was none left to slay; all-men. women, and children—having been destroyed by Suvorov's express orders, "they being godless heathens, who did not respect their oaths! This terrible example, if we may believe the and the enforced migration of the Nogays encountered no further opposition. Catharine soon afterwards sent the successful general the Grand Cross of the Equestrian Order of St. Wolodimir, "as a public testimony of our approbation of the seal and activity you have displayed in our service, and particularly in the commission you have borne under the direction of our general, Prince Potemkin, for the reunion of the various nations of the Russian Empire." Suvorov returned to St. Petersburg in 1785, after having thoroughly "pacified" the Nogay Tartars, one of whose chiefs, Mursa Bey—a great eater, who drank pure sago brandy with his meals, and was always carried by his servants to bed-the Russian general regarded with great attachment and esteem, and took leave of with many expressions of affectionate regret.

OLD, BUT GOOD .- A certain old gentleman had three sons; the two eldest were remarkable for their filial piety and obedience, and were consequently beloved by all who knew them. The youngest, on the contrary, was an incorrigible scape-grace, and was hated as much as the others were beloved. The old gentleman, in the common course of human events, got very sick, and assembled his family about him. It was as tollows: "To my eldest son, William, I bequeath all my landed property," &c., to which William exclaimed "Father, I hope you may live longer to enjoy it yourself." "To my son Edward I bequeath all monies now in my banker's hands, to gether with house and household furniture." The second son also replied in the same manner as the first, "Father, I hope you may live long and happy to enjoy it yourself." Then turning to the youngest, who was waiting in silent anticipation for his division of the property he said, "As for you, you profligate scoun-

MORE ABOUT DANIEL ULLMANN .- A COFFEEpondent of the New York Evening Post contributes the following romantic story :

"The writer remembers when the widow Ullmann and her sons, James and Daniel, lived in Watertown, Jefferson county, New York, and remembers when these boys, James and Daniel, were at school at Lowville Academy, in Lewis county. They were then fifteen to seventeen years of age, and it was in the years 1824 and '5 or '6. At this time, they spoke English badly, and I well remember hearing Daniel rebuke James for using pro-fane language (a very common habit in those days, and still more common at the present time) in this wise—the manner of the expression is as fresh in the memory of the writer as though it occurred but yesterday: "Chim, py Cot, you mush not threar tho

"The account which the mother of these boys gave of herself and her sons was this: She was born in Hindostan, and having become a widow, by the customs of the pagans, of which she was one, she would have been burned upon the funeral pyre of her husband; but by the aid of an Asiatic Jew, she was enabled to flee with him to Calcutta, in India, and afterwards became his wife."

EXCELLENT REPARTME.-The Rev. Doctor M'C-, minister of Douglass, in Clydesdale, was one day dining in a large party where the Hon Henry Erskine and some other lawyers were present. A great dish of crosses being presented after dinner Dr. M'C., who was extravagantly fond of vegetables, helped himself much more largely than any other person, and as he ate with his fingers, with a peculiar veracity of manner, Mr. Erskine was struck with the idea that he resembled Nebuchadnezzar in his state of condemnation. Resolved to give him a hint of the apparent grossness of his taste and manner of eating, the wit addressed him with "Dr. M'C., you bring me in mind of the great Nebuchadnezzar.' The company were beginning to titter at the ludicrous allusion, when the Rev. vegeta-

SUICIDE EPIDEMIC IN KENTUCKY .- On the 10th instant, Mrs. Guill, residing near Ray's Fork, Scott county, Ky., about 20 years of age, hung herself to a tree and was found dead. On the 11th, a Mrs. Plunkett, of Grant county, about 40 years of age and mother of nine children, hung herself to death; and on the same day a Miss Wiggles, of Harrison county, about 15 years old, shot herself with a rifle, causing a shocking but not immediately fatal Schaim Chiray, had been pleased to call in wound. A young lady named Losier, who had an interview with the unfortunate girl, just before her death, on the same evening hung herself to a tree, but was fortunately discovered and cut down in time to save her life.

THE CHOLERA IN LONDON. -The cholera in the metropolis still continues very severe-but it was slowly on the decline The deaths during the first week of September rose to 3.413. and in the three weeks following were 2,836, 2,501, and 2,216, fell in the last week (the first week in October) to 1,532, and the number of deaths registered were 1,290.

The total deaths from cholera were 754 in the last week of September; they declined to 411 in the week that ended last Saturday. INTERESTING TO BARBERS -It is said that a gentlemen in one of the large towns of England, whose face rather exceeded the ordinary dimensions, was waited on by a barber every day for 21 years, without coming to a settlenent. The barber thinking it "about time to settle," presenten his bill, in which he charged a penny a day, amounting in all to £31 19s. 9. The gentleman, supposing that he was charged too much, refused to pay the amount; but agreed to a proposal of the barbar to pay at the rate of £200 an acre. The premises were accordingly measured, and the shaving bill was increased to £68 8s. 8d.
